

Why pyramids were created by cats

Toxoplasmosis is actually Toxoplasmeowsis and it's real. This is the story of the Miu movement and how they were responsible for the Pyramids.

Home Page Introduction

This will be an overall draft of how people seem to be so confused on how the pyramids were created. I will briefly talk about how the worship of cats weren't because ancient Egyptians were weird, but because they knew something that we didn't. Ancient Egyptians worshipped cats because they believed they were magical, could bring good luck, and were sacred to the 'gods'. They were also seen as vessels that the 'gods' chose to inhabit, and whose likeness 'gods' chose to adopt. Cats are often quick, strong, agile, and very stealthy, and during those days people worshipped anything they found interesting. From a statue to a wall painting or drawing.

“Miu”: Also the Egyptian word for cat, is the name of this secret cat society. The cats that built the pyramids would come out at night when the Egyptians were sleeping and they would plan how to build the pyramids day by day and/or they would supervise the Egyptians on how to build them. They would often host secret cat meetings to see who was going to go out on a certain night, where to get the materials, how long each cat would stay to build, which cats were to pose as distractions so that the humans wouldn't notice, which cats would tell certain Egyptians to make it seem like the humans were the ones behind the whole thing, and which cats to not tell about their plans.

The Sphinx was originally created to honor the knowledge and architectural talent that the cats had before it was changed to a mythical creature with the head of a human and the body of a lion.

That's why the position of the Sphinx resembles that of a cat.

In order to be recruited or apart of the Miu movement you had to 1. Be a very intelligent, wise, and clean cat. Or 2. Be a trustworthy human who has good standing with the feline species.

Or you could be a feline ancestor of the original founder of the MuiT inc.

For cats: To be accepted you had to pass the ritual orientation by being able to successfully complete a parkour course, hygiene test, knowledge test, meow meow song perfectly, and successfully use toxoplasmosis without being caught or suspected by a human.

For humans you had to at least be the owner or caretaker of an active feline member or be a honorable relative/companion of said cat.

Conclusion

In conclusion, many might think that aliens or the Egyptians were ahead of their time when in reality the cats were responsible for it all. This is to be a safe and non-offensive humorous joke that will finally put an end to the confusion of how the Pyramids were created.
